Change Agent-A Resource for Students and Teachers

Our colleagues in New England produce an engaging adult student-centered magazine called The Change Agent. It is a resource for teaching basic skills in the context of topics that matter to adults like voting to health to work.

Because a part of our goal is to get our students more involved in the community and to take charge of their own lives, The Change Agent is an excellent resource for your teachers to use to fulfill that goal.

Attached is a flyer with some details. The web site is <http://www.nelrc.org/changeagent/>

Note there are paper and online options.

Please feel free to pass it on to your local programs.

Keep up the good work. Let me know when we can help.
