College and Career Readiness Standards, Strategies and Solutions

As adult education state leaders, we are approaching a milestone for our profession as state and local colleagues prepare to raise standards and expectations for students, teachers and program managers.

Reinventing adult education around the National Adult Education College and Career Standards will reshape our vision for what we do, our mission in the state and local communities, our services and our curriculum.

The 2013 National Training Institute—College and Career Readiness Standards, Strategies, and Solutions-- October 22-25, will provide you with resources, strategies and solutions to plan that process.

- More than a dozen state colleagues are sharing strategies that work for them
- Cheryl Keenan and Beth Ponder are detailing newly available DAEL/LINCs training and technical assistance as well as the DAEL resources that will come available in the spring
- Everyone will have opportunities to share strategies and solutions and learn from each other.
